DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-33 are pending.

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I in the reply filed on 5/19/2004 is acknowledged. However, upon further consideration, a revised restriction is deemed as proper and is applied as shown below.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-13, 19-33, drawn to a compound, a process, composition and method of use.

If group I is elected applicants should elect a specific structural compound with define heterocyclic core or carbocyclic core which can be searched.

Group II, claim(s) 14-18, drawn to compound of formula 1.

If Group II is elected, applicants should elect a suitable Ar¹ and Ar² for examination.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The requirement for unity of invention is two-fold: (1) common utility and (2) sharing a substantial structural feature disclosed as being essential to the utility. Both these conditions are to be met with.

Groups I and II are independent and distinct from each other because they are directed to diverse class of structurally dissimilar compounds that lack common core. Group I embraces any or all compounds of varying cores and substituents that it is not possible to do a sensible search. Group II with Ar¹ and Ar² group embrace carbocyclic, heterocyclic, pseudo aromatic cores including mono, bi and tricyclic cores with varying size and varying heteroatoms and varying number of heteroatoms. Consequently, the groups require separate prior art searches. They can be made and used independently. Art, which may render obvious or anticipate one of the groups would not necessarily do the same for the other group as evidenced by the references cited in the International Search Report. Each can support a patent, as the compounds of each group are capable of being utilized alone not in combination with other members listed in the Markush group.

In fact, Group I lacks structural distinction to establish common structural requirement while in Group II, all structural features are varied and therefore the core groups do not share the same structural feature essential for the disclosed activity. As seen in the prior art cited in the International Search Report, WO 00/55149 and others the structural cores have different utility. Thus more than one utility recited in the references cited in the Search Report of structurally related compounds negates the common utility requirement.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species embraced by the different cores are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

In view of distinct nature of each invention, the restriction is set forth in writing.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
